

You've Never Seen A Fountain Show Like This!

Grab your umbrellas, because Human Fountains are here to make a splash! After reaching the quarterfinals on Season 13 of America's Got Talent and appearing on countless TV shows around the world, the comedy trio return to Los Angeles to premiere their full show as part of the Hollywood Fringe Festival, and it's going to be spit-tacular!

The Human Fountain's hilarious choreographed water spitting routines will keep you laughing and thirsty for more. Always making a splash on stage, literally — the group has endless tricks up their sleeves (and in their mouths) giving you performances that are one-of-a-kind. Through eloquent water spewing accompanied by classical opera music, Human Fountains tells unique and entertaining stories, each one more outlandish and outrageous than the last.
