

LOVE, MADNESS, AND SOMEWHERE IN BETWEEN is a no holds barred glimpse into a mystical journey filled with love, pain, insanity and redemption. Scattered along the way is a sprinkling of ironic comic commentary that can only come from a true survivor. “Jimmy” is not so much a hero but more a human being traversing an abusive childhood, a descent into alcoholism and finally plunging into a world of fantastical personifications which dwell amidst humanity’s darkest sins. Will closure, forgiveness, and healing come in the unlikely form of the “angel warriors” – patients on the pediatric cancer ward of Children’s Hospital ? Does Pure Love in fact transform and redeem, or are some lives beyond salvation? The show had its world premiere at Theatre West on January 27th, 2019.

“Cox takes on different personalities, channeling sorrow, outrage or compassion with stirring conviction”

“A powerful one-man show”
